the continuous and important successes of the Prussians, indicate that the European war, instead of being the long one anticipated by Nathe decisive ten day's campaign of Prussia against Austria in 1866. The victorious Prusby an advance on the right and left of their line, and fought on Saturday two battles and won two victories. The left of their army under met the division of General McMahon near Hafrontier. A battle commenced at mid-day and continued until dark, the French being routed French town thirty miles northeast of the battle ground. The Prussians captured 4,000 prisoners, 30 guns, 2 mitrailleurs, and 2 standards. this defeat, and states that McMahon has been isolated by the victorious army from communication with the other French forces. Napoleon ends his dispatch announcing the French disaster with the statement that he in person will the French army, mainly those who had seen service in Algeria, and their commander had a high renown as a soldier, won by his share in the victory at Magenta, in the Italian war. Both armies suffered great losses. While the attack was being made on McMahon at the right of the French army, their left, under Gen. Frossard, was defeated between Saarbruck and Sierck by the right of the Prussian army. At this point also the victors advanced into French territory, first recapturing Saarbruck, and then marching on and holding the French towns of Sierek and Thionville, situate on the Moselie, and distant respectively two and twelve miles from the border. TOWN AND COUNTRY .- The New York Commercial believes that country life is getting to be positively disagreeble to nine-tenths of the people, and the editor says:

rail brought fown and country so closely together, the superiority of the former in educational facilities and other advantages was patent to the country visitor at once, and a comparison much to the disadvantage of the country. The consequence is that the class called country aristocracy are gradually withdrawing, and becoming domiciled in cities, and so in fact with all the working class not required for field labor. This is not only the case here, but in England, rance and Germany. While the cities are gradually encroaching upon the country, the population of the latter is falling off. Modern civilization tends to a centralizing of populations. This enables systematizing and concentration of industries which are otherwise conducted in a desultory way, and renders the necessities of life easier of attainment and vastly increases the economy and conveniences of living. The opportunities for intellectual enjoyment are also much superior in schools, libraries, music, and the fine arts."

to the troops at this Post.

The said Beef must be fresh, of a good marketable quality, in equal proportion of fore and hind quarters. (neck, shank, and kidney tallow to be excluded.) and to be delivered at this Post free of cost in such quantities as may be from time to time required by and in such days as the Commanding Officer shall designate, not exceeding four times per week.

The necks of the cattle slaughtered for beef to be delivered under this agreement shall be cut off at the fourth vertebral joint, and the breast trimmed down. The shanks of fore quarters shall be cut off from three to four inches above the knee-joint, and of hind quarters from six to eight inches above the gambrel or hock joint.

Separate Proposals in duplicate will also be received by the undersigned up to the same hour and date above mentioned for supplying commissioned officers and their families stationed at this Post, or supplied therefrom, with such choice Fresh Beef as they may from time to time require, such as sirloin and porter-house steak, standing ribs, or ribs roasts. These contracts to be in force six months, or such less time as the Commissary General shall direct, commencing on the 1st day of Cotober, 1870, and subject to the approval of the Commanding General of the Department of the East.

In case of failure or deficiency in the quality or quantity of the Fresh Beef stipulated to be delivered, then the Commissary at Fort McHenry, Md., shall have power to supply the deficiency by purchase, and the contractor will be charged with the difference of cost.

The contractor will be required to enter into bonds for the sum of "Two Thousand Dollars," signed also by two responsible sureties, whose names must be mentioned in the bids.

The contractor will be opened at 11:30 a. m. on the list day of September, 1870, at Fort McHenry, Md., at which time and place bidders are requested to be present.
